

MCM DAV College for Women

The Institution Innovation Council (IIC) of MCM DAV College for Women, constituted as per the directions of the Union Ministry of Human Resource Development's Innovation Cell (MIC) envisions to systematically foster the culture of innovation in higher education. Today, the IIC organised a workshop on Intellectual Property Rights (IPR)- a first in a series of various programmes aiming to provide an impetus to creativity, innovation and entrepreneurship. Dr.Gurmeet Kaur Nanda, Principal Associate (Patents), IIPRD and Khurana & Khurana Advocates and IP Attorneys conducted this highly insightful workshop, giving the audience of over 500 a lowdown on various aspects of Intellectual Property, its significance and protection. During the interactive session, students shared their queries with the expert which were suitably answered.

Principal Dr.Nisha Bhargava informed that taking cognizance of the important role of innovation in national development, the IIC of MCM endeavours to encourage, inspire and nurture young minds by exposing them to new ideas and processes resulting in innovative activities.
